SUMMARY

Since I started working as a designer in August 2007. Design is my driving passion. I love solving problems with design, and making great ideas happen. I'm passionate for untangling problems and learning the lessons that unfold at each and every project. I was not a student from any design school or university. I used to be really insecure about my self-education. I'm definitely always learning. My design inspiration is Colors. Colors are the smiles of nature. Art without color would lose much of its purpose .

Having an engineer knowledge I can do coding, but I also love pixel perfection, the smell of fresh ink in the morning, or making you a new identity for the world! I enjoy spending a lot of time creating original designs in Photoshop and exploring new programming techniques. New technologies get me excited and I love jumping right in and getting things done.
